
7 Reasons Why Home Care is the Best Option For You...

- * Home care keeps families together. There is no more important social value. It is particularly important in times of illness.
- * Home care serves to keep the elderly independent. None of us want to be totally dependent and helpless. With some assistance, seniors can continue to function as viable members of society.
- * Home care prevents or postpones institutionalization. Few patients choose to be placed in a nursing home, unless it's the only place where they can obtain the 24-hour care that they need.
- * Home care promotes healing. There is abundant evidence that patients heal more quickly at home.
- * Home care allows a maximum amount of freedom for the individual. Hospitals and nursing homes offer more regimented, regulated environments.
- * Home care offers a reassuring, individualized setting.
- * Home care is personalized care. Home care is tailored to the needs of each individual. It is delivered on a one-to-one basis.

Personal Care

Some seniors need help with daily tasks like dressing, bathing, and eating. Providers of home care services can also help seniors manage their medications and some symptoms of aging including incontinence.

Homemaking

Even seniors who are mostly independent can benefit from a little bit of homemaking help, which is another service provided by non-medical in home care. Caregivers are able to help seniors keep their home clean, make healthy meals and can provide transportation when seniors need to run errands or make it to appointments.

Companionship

Perhaps one of the most important services offered by non-medical caregivers is simple companionship. For many seniors, living at home can feel isolating, especially after the death of a spouse. Companion care can provide much-needed emotional support
